Standlee Premium Western Forage® Donates Product to COVID-19 Impacted Animals in Texas

Kimberly, Idaho– Standlee Premium Products™, manufacturer of the Standlee Premium Western Forage products, recently donated a truckload of Premium Alfalfa Cubes for horses and their owners affected by the devastating COVID-19 pandemic in Fort Worth, Texas through the ASPCA® (The American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals®).

“These 1,100 bags of our high-quality Alfalfa Cubes will hopefully help ease some of the burden and stress on owners to care for their beloved animals,” said Dusty Standlee, CEO and President of Standlee Premium Products. Mr. Standlee continued, “Animal owners and their families have enough on their plates during this unfortunate situation and we are happy to provide some relief .”

Standlee Premium Alfalfa Cubes were delivered to the Humane Society of North Texas (HSNT) in Fort Worth, Texas, a partner of the ASPCA's Right Horse Initiative. HSNT recently launched safety net programming to address the needs of their community in the form of pet food and equine feed resources as well as low-cost preventative veterinary services.

“The ASPCA and The Right Horse Initiative are dedicated to fostering collaboration within the equine industry, and this generous donation is just one example of that,” said Dr. Emily Weiss, Vice President of ASPCA Equine Welfare. “We thank Standlee Premium Products for their support of horses and their owners during this difficult time.”
